RED TAYE IN RUSSIA.—A Memel letter relates an incident which shows that the rule of red tape is still powerful in Russia. On the 9th of August, a fire broke out in a farmhouse, in a Russian village, just across the Prussian frontier. The fire might easily have been confined to one building, by a single fire engine; plat, unfortunately, the Rusergiue; plat, unfortunately the Prussian village comes ratiling up to the resone, and, in ten minutes, can be in full play. It reaches the barrier of, the frontier, but the firemenhad no passaports, and the whole village, with the exception of three houses, burned down in the meantime.

M. Caliste Saix, in a communication to the French Academy, describes a method of forming diamonds which he is confident cannot fail. A stream of chloring gas is passed over fased cast iron, forming a perchloride of iron. This volatilizes, and the carbon of the metal remains intact. The carbon them, the author insiste, must crystalize aranne diamonds. One killogrammen of jewels, leaves and the diamonds of jewels, leaves and the diamonds producing 75,000 france.
