

Ben Maginley, now playing the Judge in "The Danites" company, has secured Habberton's new play, "Deadwood Chums," for next season. We understand that the piece was owned by McKee Rankin, but owing to his projected trip to Europe he has sold his interest to Mr. Maginley. As the title would indicate, the drama deals with Western life, and is said to be very strong.